Summary: Bella has Renesmee but it doesn't go quite like the book or movie. Bella survives but is shocked to wake up human and knowing Edward had no intention of changing her. She calls on Sam to help her as they have a history. Things change as Bella stays with him and Emily. Soon enough the one Sam is destined with leaves but her leaving opens a door that should've opened long ago.

1. Chapter 1

"Beautiful." I whispered. It was the most amazing thing I've ever seen in my entire life. Magnificent really. She was the most amazing thing I've ever seen. My child, my baby. I could feel my eyes closing. I looked at Edward, my husband, my life, and saw a look of pure rage across his face. Why? Why is he angry? "Get it out of here." I could barely let out a gasp as he said that. It? Our baby is an it to him? I heard crying and then blackness as my eyes closed.

>I heard a heart monitor and people talking in the background. Heart monitor? "She's waking up." I heard someone say. It sounded like Carlisle.

My eyes fluttered and then opened. The light assaulted my eyes making me shut them. Why would the light bother a vamp-...I snapped my eyes open and sat up fast. My head spun and I looked around frantically. Two things were running through my mind. Where's Renesmee and why am I alive?

A cold hand landed on my shoulder and I was staring into Carlisle's eyes. "It's okay Bella." He said soothingly. "Carlisle. Where's Renesmee? And why am I not a vampire?" He sighed and sat next to me. "She's fine, she's with Rose. And since you survived Edward thought you didn't need to become immortal."

I stood and paced in front of him. "We had a deal Carlisle. Edward promised to change me if we got married. And even then, if I survived the birth he'd change me."

He shook his head. "I'm sorry Bella, but that's up to Edward." I froze and looked at him like he lost his head. "Up to Edward? You've got to be kidding me."

Up to motherfucking Edward? What about my decision?! My fucking choice Carlisle?! What about me?! Don't! Where's my daughter?!" I yelled breathing hard.

On cue Rose came in with my daughter in her arms. I let out a breath and held my arms out towards her and what happened made me want to wish these were real vampires that I could spray holy water on. Rose bypassed me and handed Renesmee off to Carlisle. She started to fuss and I rushed snatching her out of his arms.

"Who do you think you are not giving my child to me? If I could I'd burn you." I hissed at Rosalie. She growled back at me. Carlisle held her arm and they walked out.

I looked at my daughter. She had my eyes and Edward's hair. Suddenly she put her hand to my face and I gasped. _"I don't like it here Mommy. _"How did you- and neither do I sweetheart." I put whatever she just did to the back of my mind and decided to make a call.

I went searing for my phone which I quickly found and dialed the number. It rang twice before he answered. "Uley."

"Sam. It's me Bella...Swan. I need your help."

I heard his sharp intake of breath. "Are you..."

"No, and I'm happy I'm not. But I need you to get us out of here."

"Us?" He asked. "Yea, me and my daughter."

2. Chapter 2

AN: Hi guys. I know I write a story then stop and then do another and then stop but it has to do. I just feel like I started this story wrong. I'm going to make it different...Before all of this happened. So be on the look out. I'll just change the summary and first chapter...so reread it at least by tonight or tomorrow...Thanks.
